NUMBER 37

To Mail Pledge For Tobacco Cut

The pledge, adopted at a meeting Saturday of the directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association calling for a fifty per cent reduction of the 1921 tobacco crop is now in the hands of printers and copies will be mailed Wednesday to every county in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia, Missouri and Tennessee that produces Burley tobacco, President John W. Newman said Tuesday.

Accompanying the pledge was printed suggestions for solicitors who will push the campaign to secure signatures to the reduction program.

In counties that have branch organizations of the Growers' Association the drive for signatures was conducted by officials and members of the association. In counties not yet organized the pledges were mailed to every bank and to the office of the county court clerk where it may be signed by any tobacco grower.

Advertise That Sale In the Advocate

The fact that the Advocate has the largest sworn circulation of any newspaper between Winchester and Ashland, a distance of over 100 miles, and that it costs no more to use space in its columns than a paper of less circulation should be the cause of every sale in this section being advertised in The Advocate. We also print sale bills at most reasonable prices and will gladly assist you in preparing your copy. If you are going to have a sale and want to be assured of securing the HIGH DOLLAR for every item don't fail to place an ad in The Advocate—it will be the best investment you could possibly make.

Mrs. Pieratt's Mother Dies in Chicago

The following article from the Havana, Cuba, Post will be of interest to many friends of Berry Pieratt, formerly of this city, but now of Chicago, and will sympathize with Mr. Pieratt and wife in the death of her mother:

"Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Pieratt, of Chicago, who have been guests at the Hotel Sevilla for a week, left by aeroplane yesterday on a hurried journey to their home via New York.

Their mid-winter sojourn here, which they had planned to make an extensive one, was sadly interrupted early yesterday by cabled news of the sudden death of Mrs. Pieratt's mother.

Arrangements were quickly made to fly to Florida and make connection with the fast train to New York and then to Chicago by the limited. Mr. Pieratt is a candy manufacturer of prominence in the Lake City and the couple have many friends in Havana."

DON'T BE A GLOOMY GUS

We think it is up to every business man—and who is not a business man in good old America—to strike a hopeful keynote in his advertising.

We say this to our local men of business, to our farmers, too, and to every man who sells what he has, even if all he has is his daily labor.

Because there has been a slump on the price of this, that or the other commodity, it is the poorest reason in the world for talking hard times. Pessimism never won anything. Gloom is a thing of the grave; it is not for the living man with a future before him.

The times may have been bad for a lot of us for some months past, but as everything changes, going from one extreme to the other, and striking normalcy in between, we all know that there are good times ahead—and not very far ahead either, if we all put the best foot forward and the best smile to the front.

The man who recovers first from the gloom of his bad business, or poor wages, or whatever it was that hit him, is the man who is going to have the most prosperity in the better times that are on their way—they are on their way just as sure as the sun comes up and out of the East every morning. He is going to have the most prosperity because his effort will stretch over a larger period than the fellow who slouches gloomily until the good times are so apparent that they hit him in the nose.

Therefore, we say to the business man who advertises: Put optimism in your ads. To the farmer and other workers, whose tongues are their ads, we say: Talk good times, they're coming, and soon.

City High School News

An addition to the course at school was made this week in a music class. Mrs. Loring Turley will give lessons every Monday morning to those students who have added music to their other studies. This will of course help our chapel exercises very much, as singing heretofore has not been developed to a high art among the pupils.

Tomorrow night there is to be a basket ball game between the Mt. Sterling boys and those of the Frankfort High School. This is expected to be an exciting game, as both teams are in good shape.

Tuesday evening Miss Virginia Slade, of Lexington, gave a delightful rendering of Barrie's play "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire." It was attended by a good crowd, which seemed to enjoy and appreciate the performance. The people of Mt. Sterling are fortunate to have had the opportunity of hearing Miss Slade.

If no more applications are made to take the Home Economics course the lessons cannot be given, as only a few applications have been made.

There is to be a basket ball game Friday evening at 7:30 between the ladies of the faculty and the girls of the Senior Class. The participants on the faculty team will be Miss Cassity, Miss Alfrey, Miss Pinney, Miss Henry, Mrs. Covington, Miss Baker and Miss Hardin. This promises to be a splendid game, also somewhat dangerous for the teachers. It is being whispered. This week the Frankfort-Mt. Sterling game will be well worth the money.

Co. High School Notes

The faculty of the County High School, consisting of Prof. M. J. Goodwin, Prof. Junius Lewis, Mrs. Guy Zimmerman, Miss Grace Maxwell and Miss Marguerite Newmeyer, entertained the pupils and their friends on Friday, February 11, with a Valentine party at the High School building on Holt avenue. Many games and "stunts" were enjoyed and taken part in by all. Mrs. Edith Cord and Mrs. Lewis presided at the punch bowl. Home-made candy was served and later in the evening heart-shaped cakes and ice cream. The decorations were red and white, with a profusion of red hearts. About 80 guests were present.

The Junior Class of the County High School entertained in honor of the Senior Class with a card party on Saturday, February 12, at the High School building. At 9 o'clock an excellent five-course dinner was served. About forty guests were present.

Tobacco Receipts Especially Heavy

Tobacco has been pouring into the local market at a record-breaking pace for the past few days and the streets are literally filled with canvass-covered wagons and trucks. It is mostly of a common grade and few good crop averages are being realized, most of the house averages being around 8 cents.

The Farmers' Warehouse finished a sale Wednesday of 188,015 lbs, that averaged $7.63; the Whitehall completed a sale of 149,000 pounds this morning which is estimated will average around 8 cents. A sale at the Robertson was in progress when this report was closed.

Chicken Thieves in Bath

One night last week Sheriff Walter Boyd, of Bath county, received a telephone message at his home in Sharpsburg from John Ramey, of the same vicinity, that thieves were robbing his chicken roost. Mr. Boyd went immediately to Mr. Ramsey's and at once got on the trail of the thieves and located them at the home of Abe Frederick and Hiram Ballard in Nicholas county. Next morning early the Sheriff, armed with warrants, arrested Frederick and Ballard and took them to Owingsville, where they have since been in jail waiting the action of the grand jury. As circuit court was so near the prisoners waived examining trial and were held in default of $750 bail each. A coffee sack containing about a dozen hens, was found in the buggy which had been used the night before by Frederick and Ballard on a trip to Sharpsburg and other chickens got away. Frederick has a wife and nine small children and Ballard has a wife and five children.

Arm is Broken Without Knowing It

Howe A. Thompson, of this county, met with an accident last week that resulted in a broken arm. While working in a barn of tobacco his arm began to hurt him and he thought that it was sprained. He continued work and the arm became worse. Monday the pain was so severe that he went to see a physician, and an examination showed that the large bone in the right wrist was fractured. The break was set and Mr. Thompson will be compelled to carry his arm in a sling for some time to come.

A TALK WITH MERCHANTS

Do you recall the days when they bought space in the newspapers, not because they needed it, but to help the boys along?

That was in father's time, when advertising was young, and when ground-rents were LOW—we have LEARNED things since then!

Now, we buy advertising from the selfish standpoint, wholly. We have come to see, that dollars spent in newspapers, are like dollars put into MEAT, LIGHT, WAGES, RENT and STOCK-IN-TRADE.

We have settled down to the conviction that running a business WITHOUT the newspaper, is like running an automobile WITHOUT GASOLINE.

They DO run autos without gasoline, all right! It is possible for one to TRAVEL that way, but in ONE DIRECTION ONLY—DOWN HILL!

Coasting down-grade is not hard, but the hill-climb of COMPETITION that calls for POWER! In business, the way to be ready to buck circumstances, and take the grades as they COME, is to ADVERTISE—advertise in the most effective of ALL selling forces—The NEWSPAPERS!

Is there anything about YOUR business that you would care to MAKE KNOWN to OVER SEVEN THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE—to the 7,500 readers of The ADVOCATE?

If there IS—then DECLARE YOURSELF!

A business man does not thrive—by hiding his light under a BUSHEL! SEND FOR US!

Kentucky Annual Livestock Summary

The value of livestock on Kentucky farms on January 1st, 1921, was approximately $126,818,000, as compared to approximately $167,906,000 worth of stock on this state's farms January 1, 1920, according to the annual estimate issued jointly by the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates in co-operation with State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna. The decrease in total value is due chiefly to shrinkage in market value per head, though there has been considerable decrease in numbers, especially of hogs. Dairy cows show a slight increase in numbers.

This estimate gives the numbers of livestock of various classes in Kentucky January 1, 1921, as follows: Horses, 420,000; mules, 250,000; milk cows, $466,000; other cattle, 562,000; sheep, 1,137,000; swine,

1,129,000. This indicates the number of mules on Kentucky farms is the same as on January 1, 1920. Milk cows have increased about 2 per cent, while cattle other than milk cows, have decreased about 5 per cent, horses a little more than 2 per cent, sheep about 8 per cent, and swine nearly 15 per cent.

The average farm value of milk cows in Kentucky January 1, 1921, is $57 per head, compared to $73 in January, 1920; other cattle, $30.10 compared to $41.20; horses, $84 compared to 101; mules $107 compared to $126; sheep, $6.30 compared to 10.90, and swine, 9.90, compared to $13.

Why the Farmers Should Advertise

Editor's Note—The following article was published in the New York Herald under an Albany, New York date line. It would be beneficial if it were generally reproduced in country newspapers. Farmers in every state of the Union should be sold on the wisdom of advertising, and this article may help to sell them.

New York Herald Bureau, Albany, Jan. 18.

Of all the business failures in 1920 84 per cent of them were of firms that did not advertise their wares. One of the greatest financial agencies in America discovered this fact, and George A. Cullen, vice president of the North American Fruit Exchange, used it as a text on which he based his speech on "Co-operative Marketing," delivered last week at the annual meeting of the New York State Agricultural Society. The meeting was held in the assembly chamber.

After setting forth the above cited statistics Mr. Cullen reminded the farmers before him that they must remember that neither Dun nor Bradstreet reports cover the apple growers of New York state, a fact that made the financial agencies' statement all the more significant. Then he went on to say:

"You apple growers sitting before me furnish one of the most striking examples in this country of intelligent men failing to make use of the one thing that could turn disaster into success. Why do California growers successfully invest $750,000 a year in advertising to create an appetite for citrus fruits while New York apple growers invest practically not a cent to create an appetite for some of the finest fruit produced on the face of the earth?"

"Wake up, New York apple growers, and advertise!"

"Think of the Pacific Coast raisin growers investing $500,000 a year in advertising and the prune growers, $350,000, while the New York state farmers apparently try to keep it a secret from all the world that they produce the finest of seed potatoes and maple syrup!"

"Wake up, New York growers, and advertise!"

"Eventually, why not now? And that reminds me. Did it ever occur to you as singular that the millers advertise flour, but that the farmers who produce the superior grade of wheat out of which that flour is made never advertise wheat? And that the shoe manufacturers advertise shoes, while the farmers who produce the superior hides out of which those shoes are made never advertise their products? Why do Armour and Welch get all the good will asset out of advertising their particular brands of grape juice, while the growers, who produce the best quality of grapes, out of which that juice is made, establish for themselves no reputation, with the public, and hence are always at a disadvantage in dealing with the juice makers?"

"The grower must henceforth be the man who is known to the consuming public. It must no longer be merely the manufacturer or the middleman who is known, as has been the case almost universally in the past. The grower must seize and hold that great intangible asset known to the legal and financial world as 'good will,' which will raise him from a position of dependence to one of power."

"But there is a further and exceedingly important use for advertising by the grower. That is in constantly keeping the consumer informed when his products are available, or to be available, when they are abundant, and when they are or should be relatively cheap at retail. This has real practical value in stimulating consumption."

Pinheaded Politicians

Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, former Brigadier General serving in France and prominently mentioned for a place in Harding's Cabinet, has made some very timely and truthful statements before a Congressional committee investigating the expenditures of the war.

Mr. Dawes is a Republican, therefore his statements are more significant than if made by a Democrat. Among his many severe strictures was this:

"Pinheaded politicians have turned the greatest war record of the United States into a muckraker's fest."

Unfortunately, for the good name of our country, this is true.

An attempt has been made for nearly two years by a certain class of politicians to belittle the achievements of our soldiers in France, and their success in turning the scale, and winning the war, because the Administration which conducted the war happened to be Democratic. In other words, these "pinheaded politicians," quoting Mr. Dawes, have purposely sought to discredit the glorious part the United States had in the war in order to discredit President Wilson. They have discredited the boys who fought in France, many of whom gave up their lives, in their rancorous hatred of the President and the party he represented.

It was not necessary to do any of these things for the Republican party to win the Presidential election, but these muckrakers thought so, and they did it for that purpose.

We have not always agreed with President Wilson, but we are too much of an American to undertake to blacken the reputation of our army in France or obscure its achievements upon the fields of battle. This is such extreme partisan hatred that it cannot appeal to the thinking, patriotic citizens whether they are Democrats or Republicans. We recall that there was no such attempt to discredit McKinley, our martyred President, in his conduct of the Spanish American War nor were there after this war as won any muck raking investigations by Democrats.

We deplore dragging our flag down in order to throw mud at Wilson, Mr. Dawes goes on to say. "There was not a dollar dishonestly spent by the government in France," and although the Republicans have spent several millions in "Smelling Committees" they have not been able to discover a single stench.

The war and its wonderful accomplishments was not a Democratic or a Republican war, but an American war in which partisanship was laid aside until it was won, and the glory belongs to Republicans as well as Democrats.

It was a nation's war and the nation came out of it gloriously and the continued efforts to bedim its glory for partisan purposes is as contemptible as General Dawes says it is.

How Wage Earners Are Now Divided

Some very interesting statistics have been published recently showing how wage earners are divided in the United States.

There are 850,000 men engaged in coal mining; 115,000 stockmen; 114,000 lumbermen and raftsmen; 233,000 blacksmiths; 177,000 brick and stone masons; 817,000 carpenters; 400,000 in iron and steel mills; 180,000 shoe workers, and so on, through fifty trades and professions, with a total number of men and women employed in gainful occupations, of over ten years of age, of 71,600,000.

It is interesting to note that there are more clergymen than lawyers, judges and justices; more physicians than clergymen or lawyers; more teachers by 200,000 than are numbered in these three professions combined, and nearly as many cooks as there are teachers.

There are more barbers than there are nurses; nearly four times as many bookkeepers as commercial travelers, and nearly as many real estate agents as there are waiters.

These millions of people serve each other, live by the labors of others, and have interests and obligations which are mutual. Whether supplying capital or management, or skilled, or common labor, one cannot live and prosper without the other, and all are essential to the growth and prosperity of the greatest nation in the world.

All industrial processes have for their end the production of goods, which satisfy human wants. The most important means for the accomplishment of this purpose is that device of civilization, which distinguishes it principally from savagery and barbarism—the division of labor.

The result of this division of labor has been not only an increase in the production and consumption of the goods, and the improvement in the quality of the article manufactured, but the growth of a widespread industrial and social interdependence, and a sense of mutual responsibility and co-operation, so that the world is bound closer together than it would otherwise have been.

On this plan each man must do the work in which he is most proficient and in which he can produce the largest and best results. For the same reason men doing the same class of work and skilled in a particular operation, are brought together into an industrial partnership and with improved machinery, give us mass production, cheapen processes, meet the increasing demands of the consumer and lower the price of commodities.

The workman himself, because of his division of labor, can wear better clothes, have more and better food, live in a better house, have a shorter working day, enjoy more leisure, and entertain and develop himself beyond anything ever dreamed of in a more primitive society.

Heads State Drive To Feed Chinese

DR. MULLINS is chairman of Kentucky for the China Famine Fund. This campaign which was launched by President Wilson, is to raise money to feed the 40,000,000 Chinese now facing death from starvation.

FATHER POISONS HIS STARVING CHILDREN

Kentuckian Receives Letter From China Telling of the Horrible
Famine Conditions There

40,000,000 FACE DEATH

So dreadful are the famine conditions in China, a father poisoned his family to save them from the suffering of starvation. The 40,000,000 people who face starvation now are beginning to die from the dreaded typhus.

These conditions are described in a letter to the Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, Louisville, chairman for Kentucky of the China Famine Fund, and also are told of in the report of the American Minister at Peking sent to President Wilson. The campaign to save these people from starvation was launched by the President.

10,000,000 Are Children.

The American Minister states that of this number, 15,000,000 are subsisting on dry leaves and 10,000,000 of them are children.

Dr. Mullins says this famine is the greatest since the one in 1876 when "the world stood aghast at the death of millions by starvation and cold. The horrors of that year are at our very doors," he said.

The area involved is larger than France and embraces Shantung, Shansi, Chihli and Honan.

A missionary in a letter received yesterday by Dr. Mullins, says:

"This dreadful famine follows five years of crop failures. Millions of men, women and children are eating the last of their dry leaves. The winters here are very cold but these people have no fuel—they depend on leaves and gleaning stalks to heat their huts—they have neither.

Typhus Upon Them.

"This appeal is not ours but theirs. I passed from Tchow to Tientsin, there was only barrenness, wheat had been sown in some few spots, but it is a long wait until harvest time and now typhus is upon us.

"I found one very pathetic case. The cow that had kept the family alive for months, failed to give milk for lack of feed. She had to be sold for a trifle. The father prepared a good meal of 'Beodsi,' dumplings for his family. His little daughter asked how it was that they were having such good food after weeks of hunger. After they had eaten, he told them that he had put poison in each dumpling and all would soon be out of their misery. He could not bear to see them starve and they were dead when I arrived.

"Please send money for these poor human beings. The railroad into Manchuria will haul wheat free of charge but we haven't enough money to buy the wheat."

Dr. Mullins has sent an appeal to the clergy of Kentucky to relate the experiences of this missionary. Joseph Burge, treasurer of the Famine Fund, sends the funds to China through the State Department at Washington.

Sterling for years and during that time has rendered police service. He is a Democrat of the old type that never sulks, cheerfully abiding the action of his people and is popularly termed a true servant to his party. He informs us that his dealings in the police court had the better equipped him to discharge the duties of this office and if nominated and elected he pledges his entire time and talents to the duties of the office. He also instructs us to say to the voters that he would make a thorough canvass and in person present his claims to the voters. He refers with pride to duties rendered as a police officer and for this position he asks the voters to measure his loyalty to public trust by duties performed. We ask the people to give Mr. Mastin's claims to the office of Police Judge a just consideration.

ADVERTISING A NECESSITY

Statistics furnished by a financial agency, not in the publishing business, shows that of all the failures of 1920 84 per cent of them did not advertise. This exhibit is very interesting and should be an unerring evidence that business without advertising is susceptible to failures and should stimulate all men to go to the newspaper as a great helper to a growing business. The man who believes that advertising is a waste has another think coming to him, for advertising is absolutely necessary to a successful end.

LET'S HAVE A GYMNASIUM

In a recent conversation with one of the trustees of our city schools we were informed of the crowded condition at our local institution and the pressing need for a gymnasium. There is no doubt but that the development of the body is as essential as the development of the mind, and that a liberal literary education is absolutely worthless unless the body has received proper care. In our opinion no greater improvement could be made for the benefit of our children than a modern gymnasium, and we gladly throw our columns open to aid in any way possible to hasten the day when we can boast of an up-to-date gymnasium as can be found in any high school in the state. To make this improvement we are informed a new building will be necessary and we hope and believe our trustees will find some means by which a gymnasium may be an accomplished fact before the school doors open next fall.

688 Auto Licenses Issued in This County

County Clerk Keller Greene has issued 592 passenger automobile licenses and 96 truck licenses up to January 29th.

Automobile licenses issued by county clerks in Kentucky up to January 29th, totalled 86,562, according to figures given out at the office of the automobile department of the State Tax Commission. Passenger car licenses issued totalled 75,850 and truck licenses 10,712.

Of the total number of cars licensed 22.4 per cent, or 19,422, are listed from Jefferson county, in which Louisville is located. Of these 15,938 are passenger cars and 3,494 are trucks.

Fayette county, in which Lexington is located, was second in the number of passenger cars licensed with 3,162, but fell into third place in the number of trucks licensed with 574. Kenton county, in which Covington is located, issued 2,596 passenger car licenses, the third largest number, and 633 truck licenses.

No licenses were reported from a number of counties in the mountainous region of Eastern Kentucky. No pleasure car licenses were issued in Breathitt, Clay, Elliott, Floyd, Lee, Jackson, Knott, Leslie, Magoffin, Owsley and Wolfe counties. No truck licenses were issued in Clay, Elliott, Floyd, Jackson, Knott, Lee, Leslie, Magoffin, Martin, Owsley, Powell and Wolfe counties.

Although the time for obtaining 1921 licenses, as regards to cars running on the public highways, was extended by the department to January 10, thousands of car owners have not yet taken out licenses, according to officials of the department. This is due, they say, to the fact that many persons, especially in the hilly portions of the state, store their cars for the winter and do not take out licenses until the roads get good in the spring and summer. The cars are not run, consequently no license is needed.

Curt Jett Makes Second Matrimonial Venture

The Rev. Curtis Jett, former Kentucky feudist, and Mrs. Alice Parks, Union City, were married at Richmond Tuesday night at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. D. H. Matherly.

Mr. Jett has been married before, but was divorced from his former wife, Mrs. Dora Bullock Atkins Jett last spring. Mrs. Jett, in her petition for the decree filed in the Fayette county circuit court, charged abandonment and failure to provide. They were married in Lexington on December 14, 1918, two weeks after Mr. Jett's release from the Kentucky reformatory where he was serving a life sentence for the murder of Judge J. B. Marcum, of Jackson.

After he was pardoned by Governor A. O. Stanley the former convict entered Asbury College, Wilmore, to study for the ministry. He has conducted many revivals in Central Kentucky since being ordained.

Three Deputy Sheriffs Wounded

Following an ambush of four Carter county deputy sheriffs by moonshiners last night in which three deputies were wounded, three men charged with complicity in the attack were captured by a posse and taken to Catlettsburg for safe keeping. Bloodhounds were put on the trail of the men who fired the shots at the officers, and men named Binon and Barker and a third unidentified man were arrested. They operated a still which was found near their homes, it is alleged.

The condition of one of the deputies, Melvin Hunter, who was shot in the legs and body, is serious. Homer Phillips and William Fraley, two other members of the raiding party, were slightly wounded, Phillips' head and body being peppered with buckshot and Fraley received a superficial wound in the forehead.

Paris Duncan, the fourth member of the party, escaped with a whole skin, but with a bullet hole in his hat.

The officers were returning shortly before 8 o'clock last night from a search of the hills three miles from Grahn, near the mouth of Dudley Creek, for moonshine stills, when they were fired upon. A posse was made up at Olive Hill and in Grayson and went to Grahn and, using bloodhounds secured from Huntington, followed trails which led to the arrest of two men, who later were released.

The three men now in Catlettsburg were arrested later. They were first taken to Olive Hill, but on account of the high feeling were taken to Catlettsburg.

T. S. Robertson Gets Threatening Letter

Thos. S. Robertson, one of the large land owners and tobacco raisers and dealers of the Bethel neighborhood, Bath county, it seems has incurred the displeasure of a band of men styled nightriders. Mr. Robertson was visited a few weeks ago by a number of men on horseback, who warned him not to take any of his tobacco to market and not to raise or allowed to be raised on his land any tobacco in 1921. This warning was accompanied with threats of violence for failure to comply with it. Last Friday Mr. Robertson received a letter through the mail warning him not to sell any tobacco he had on hand under penalty of having his tobacco barns and other property destroyed.

To Members of The County Board

At its first meeting on the first Saturday in March, after organizing, each county board of education has the power to appoint a county superintendent whose term will begin in January, 1922. In many counties it will be desirable to appoint the county superintendent as early as possible to the end that the county superintendency may not become involved in the coming political campaign. I feel confident that no county board will appoint any person superintendent because of political affiliation. When appointed no superintendent should be inclined or permitted to participate in partisan politics. County boards have no greater obligation and no greater opportunity than to put this office upon a professional rather than a political basis. That is the purpose and the spirit of the new law. Wherever a superintendent now in office has proven himself conscientious and capable, he should be re-appointed; wherever a superintendent has proven himself derelict in discharging his duties he should not be re-appointed. County boards may appoint a superintendent for one year or for two years or for three years or for four years. The term for which the superintendent is appointed is determined solely by consideration of the welfare of the schools of the county. Wherever the superintendent is competent and is supported unanimously, it will benefit the schools to appoint for a four-year term. No divided board should appoint for more than one year. No superintendent should be appointed who does not at the time of his appointment hold a proper legal certificate. No person should be appointed superintendent who will not give his entire time to the office. In every case, at least a living salary should be paid. The law does not permit any salary less than twelve hundred dollars. Superintendents should be appointed by written contract only. The form of contract to be used will be sent from this department within the next few days.

Let me urge again that chances of the children in each county depend largely upon the action of the board in the appointment of the superintendent. The character and the conduct and the capacity of the person appointed should, in every case, be above suspicion. In making the appointment, the board does not represent any party, any faction or any section, but the whole county. The schools of the county will be what the Co. Superintendent makes them. It will not improve the schools of any county to supplant an incompetent or dishonest superintendent with one equally incompetent or dishonest. County boards are no longer confined to their own county in making their choice. Whenever a suitable man within the county cannot be found for this position, county boards should not hesitate to seek elsewhere for a suitable superintendent. No person should be appointed superintendent who in the recent election of county board members violated the spirit or the purpose of the new school law. The best man that can be found anywhere is none too good for the children in any county. The whole state is watching the newly elected county boards, and the improvement of our public schools waits upon their action. I am pleading and praying that the county boards everywhere do not betray our children in these appointments.

With genuine good wishes,
Sincerely,
GEO. COLVIN,
State Superintendent

Longer Lives as Result Of Better Conditions

"The rich, who can pay, and the poor, who are not expected to pay, are the only classes that get the very best medical and surgical attention when ill," declared Dr. J. N. McCormick, director of bureau of public health work in Kentucky, in a statement issued at Louisville. "Notwithstanding that," he says, "the length of life in America has increased about seven years in the last generation," and he believes it will be increased 50 per cent in the next century. The average now is about 40 years. Dr. McCormick says that in India, where the average length of life is 25 years, it was about 23 years a few years ago. In Sweden, where is the farthest advanced, the average life now is 56 years, he says. A more intelligent consideration of health, better housing and living conditions and concerted efforts in the right direction are given by the doctors as reasons for the prolongment. In the cities the advancement is more noticeable and is more marked than in the rural districts.

Newspaper Advertising Is the Cheapest

Speaking before the convention of the National Canners' Association in Atlantic City, New Jersey, William A. Thomson, general manager of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, impressed upon his hearers the vital importance of the newspapers to the canning industry and to business generally. He said, in part:

"Newspaper advertising is much the cheapest of the printed mediums per thousand of circulation. Newspaper rates, like all other commodities, have advanced somewhat in the past couple of years but they have not advanced in anything like the same degree that the materials and producing costs of newsprint-making have increased.

"To illustrate the relative cheapness of newspaper advertising, let me say that for the money necessary to buy enough postcards at a penny apiece to send just once to the 28,000,000 purchasers of the daily English language newspapers in this country you could buy at least a page and a half of advertising in every one of the 2,042 publications.

"Probably there never was a time in our economic history when this applied national advertising offered by the newspapers was so much needed as today. The selling costs of many national distributors are too high and the competitive condition which we are moving threatens to increase these costs. Manufacturers are looking for consumer sales and they must get these sales at the lowest possible figures. Increased railroad rates for transportation of all kinds must be reckoned with in sending salesmen and

"Newspaper advertising will be used in great volume in 1921, because it offers to the manufacturer the two things which are essential today in advertising—efficiency and economy."

Many Take University Correspondence Course

The University of Kentucky has enough students residing and studying in other cities and even in other states, to form a fair-sized university, according to the semi-annual report of Professor Wellington Patrick, director of university extension, just made to Senator D. H. Peak, business agent of the university. Enrollment in the extension courses totals 474, or approximately one-third of the total of students residing at the university.

The department, which has been in operation only one year, has had a very rapid growth, according to Professor Patrick.

The extension course, the report points out, consists of two important phases, one consisting of the correspondence courses in university and high school courses and the other in class extension work where professors visit the cities in which classes are located. The largest correspondence course is that of practical mining, which has 156 men living in four states, enrolled.

The largest individual class is that in educational measurements at Covington, Ky., with forty-six persons enrolled. The class is taught by Prof. G. M. Baker. At Paris eighteen persons are taking a course in English literature under Prof. L. L. Dantzler, while at Frankfort thirty-seven teachers are enrolled in a class of hygiene and physical education under Prof. P. K. Holmes.

A number of former service men, who were unable to come to the university, are being provided with correspondence courses in farm management and other agricultural subjects at the expense of the Federal Vocational Board.

Will Give Handsome Painting to Maysville

Mayor Thomas M. Russell has accepted an offer of a gift to the city of Maysville of an oil painting by Aaron Houghton Corwine, noted artist and one of Maysville's most famous sons. The offer was made by the widow of Judge Richard M. Corwine, Washington, through her nephew, William B. Corwine, New York. Mrs. Corwine, who owns the painting, is preparing to move to London, England, to make her home with a son-in-law.

When the portrait is received it will be hung with appropriate ceremonies in the public library.

Aaron Houghton Corwine is a brother of Jacob Corwine, founder of the old Maysville Eagle. His son, Richard M. Corwine, who was born in Maysville, moved to Ohio, where he became a major and a judge advocate in the army during the Civil War. He was one of the two delegates to the Chicago convention, which broke the deadlock and nominated Abraham Lincoln for president.

Weekly American Legion News Letter

The American Legion, which was quick to offer its aid to the police at the height of the crime wave, is now establishing employment agencies and aiding ex-service men during the present low tide of industry. A national survey of unemployment is being made by the American Legion Weekly and all posts have been encouraged to establish employment agencies by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., National Commander.

Massachusetts Legionnaires have obtained employment for twenty per cent of applicants at their offices. Employment officers of Minnesota posts are discouraging to the cities and interchanging information in regard to prospects for employment in their communities. Spokane ex-service men and their families who are out of work are being supplied with food and other necessities by Legion members.

More than two hundred answers to the memorial calling attention to the situation which surrounds the rehabilitation of disabled veterans of the World War, presented to the President, President-elect and Congress by the American Legion, have been received at National Headquarters by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., National Commander. In almost every instance the senators and representatives wrote that they would support the Legion's program for reform of the rehabilitation system.

Paris, France, Post of the American Legion, has started a campaign to hold the 1922 Legion convention in Gay Paree.

National Headquarters of the American Legion has distributed five thousand copies of a manual which members of the Legion's national speakers' bureau will use during the approaching membership campaigns. The manual, which was prepared by the American Legion News Service, gives a brief history of the organization, outlines the definite accomplishments for the benefit of ex-service men and the country and sets forth the plans of the Legion for the future.

The state legislature of Oregon has sent a memorial to Congress and urge immediate passage of the American Legion's four-fold adjusted compensation bill. The action of the Oregon legislators was unanimous. It is believed to be the fore-runner of numerous similar moves on the part of state legislatures in an effort to obtain the passage of the bill.

The present system of immigration was condemned by members of the Braxton County Post of the American Legion at Sutton, Va., in a vote following a discussion of the problem. Forty-nine per cent of the vote was for stopping immigration entirely; eleven per cent of the vote was for three years, and forty per cent for establishing an effective system of regulation. There were no votes in support of the prevailing system.

In recognition of the American Legion's efforts in behalf of disabled veterans, the sick and wounded ex-soldiers of Detroit have organized a Legion post with a membership of more than two hundred.

Following an appeal by the New York Department to 8,000 ministers of all religious denominations of the state, more than five hundred cities and towns participated in "American Legion Sunday, January 16th. Posts attended the service in a body.

Minnesota Legion posts will assist ex-service men of their state to obtain their quota of the 4,800 lost Liberty Bonds and 6,600 unclaimed discharge certificates filed away in Washington, D. C. Alphabetical lists of owners have been "issued" to each legion state headquarters.

Ideas from ex-service men in regard to what type of war memorial should be erected in the United States are sought by T. Semmes Walmsley, chairman of the National Memorials Committee of the American Legion. Information is also desired in regard to local memorials which have been constructed. It should be addressed to 302 Marine Bank Building, New Orleans, La.

Members of a commercial club in Worland, Wyo., showed their appreciation of the American Legion by extending free active membership to the members of Floyd Minch Post of their town.

F. W. Galbraith, Jr., National Commander of the American Legion, will visit several Connecticut

Tail of Comet May Flick Earth on June 26

Set the date June 26 down in your calendar and watch the skies on that night. Pons-Winnecke, a comet, is now rushing at many thousands of miles an hour toward the earth and on that night may give old Mother Earth a flick of his tail. Should the head of the comet hit the earth the continuous combustion of the thousands of meteors might set the world on fire, if the view is correct that the head of a comet consists of meteorites.

Pons-Winnecke, however, has about as much chance hitting the earth as a rifle ball discharged into the air has of striking a bird, but a million of years, Pons-Winnecke will return no more. The comet is like a man suffering from consumption. Every time it completes its mad orbit it loses weight by the shower of meteorites which it sheds. As the years go by it gets thinner and thinner and finally will sink into a tubercular grave.

Business Readjustment Has Passed Crisis

War-time expenditures and the profound modifications of the country's economic system make it imperative, Governor Harding informed Congress in the annual report of the Federal Reserve Board that "the utmost care be taken to conserve our credit and preserve the basis of our prosperity" to avoid the extreme conditions prevailing in other countries.

"Upon the United States in a large measure," the governor declared, "the solvency and financial stability of many other countries depend. This fact greatly increases in the responsibility which rests upon the American banking system and calls for the exercise of sound judgment and the strict observance of sound financial and economic principles."

In readjustment of business the country, Governor Harding asserted, is generally recognized as having passed the crisis and in looking to the future "a spirit of greater confidence prevails as the year was closed, he said, there were many indications that business generally was beginning to adjust itself to new conditions and "was preparing to proceed on a sounder and saner basis."

"Because of the accumulation of foreign commodities, however, for which there is no market," Governor Harding continued, "countries which have been sending us their surplus products find they have nothing marketable with which to pay for their imports from us."

"We find ourselves, therefore," he maintained, "with a large export trade which is being paid for only in part by a great portion of the world."

"We are therefore brought face to face," Governor Harding continued, "with the problems of how we can best extend long-time credits to European countries in order to enable them to reconstruct their industries and how we can extend credit to other countries in order to enable them also to make shipments to Europe which otherwise would be made to the United States and glut our domestic market."

Drug Fiend Breaks Romance of Artist

Of all the emotions gratitude is probably the weakest, and when it is a struggle between jealousy and gratitude the winner is easy to select. The fact that Robert Milton ran true to form and quarreled with Inga Sonderson over her method of repaying the debt of gratitude they both owe Daniel Garford furnishes the basis of the story told by Norma Talmadge in "The Woman Gives," which will be the attraction at the Tabb Theatre Friday.

Bob is a splendid type of man, but he is unable to stand the sight of his promised bride devoting herself to another man — a drug fiend. How Inga, played by Miss Talmadge, insists on paying her debt regardless of cost, makes a fascinating motion picture production.

LOOMS HUM FOR WOMEN IN SHEEP-COUNTRY

Leave it to the American farm woman to get out and find a market while her husband loafed at home on a great wool crop. She dragged out the old family loom from the attic, dusted it off and started weaving blankets from virgin wool—blankets which sell from $11 to $15 a pair and are sought after by hotel and public institution managers. The movement first started in Arkansas and Texas where thousands of pounds of wool clip is in store—due to the low price of 20 cents offered by buyers—and which cost about 35 cents to produce. The pictures show, upper, small flock of sheep, such as may be found on any farm, which will shear enough wool to make three or four blankets. Lower—A wool grower's wife at Texarkana, Ark., who is making $10 to $15 a day with the old family loom. Offices are being opened in Texas by wool growers where orders for blankets are taken, to be filled by community looms.

Doctor Who Removed Own Appendix Better

Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, the sixty-year-old surgeon of Kane Pa., who late Tuesday removed his own appendix in one of the most remarkable operations on record, spent a comparatively easy night and sent word from his bedside that he is farther on the road to recovery than is usual a day following an operation for the removal of the appendix.

"Just say that I am getting along all right," said the doctor through his nurse. "Maybe, a little later on, I will have a statement that will be of interest."

It was stated that Dr. Kane, since the operation, has dictated a number of letters and given directions regarding the conduct of his personal affairs and practice.

Are You a Baker?

The following letter has been received by the editor of this paper:

"Dear sir: Will you please help me locate the descendants of Martin Baker, who was born September 24, 1773, and his wife Ester Walton Baker, born August 12, 1776. This Martin Baker lived at one time in Millersburg, Bourbon county, Ky. His eleven children were: Nancy W., born June 22, 1796; John, born June 22, 1798; Polk, born January 7, 1801; Elizabeth, born July 9, 1803;

Sally Ann, born January 14, 1806; Hetty, born February 19, 1808; Martin, born February 12, 1810; James W., born June 21, 1812; Henryette, born December 16, 1814; Joshua, born June 21, 1817 and Sophia, born August 7, 1818.

The descendants of these Bakers are wanted in connection with the so widely advertised Baker Estate, and I believe some of them are readers of your paper.

You may be glad to know that a Baker estate is not a myth and that a most thorough and close investigation is well under way, preparatory to filing claims for settlement.

If you cannot print this little notice in the columns of your paper, please write me.

Thanking you for your co-operation in notifying any of these descendants through your publication, I am

Yours very truly,
